forts, and at the same time open communication that way with the flag officer, and supply him with amountation. I am also going to send part of the mortar flast to the back of Fort Sackson, to cut off the escape of the garrison by that way and stop supplies. A deserter, who can be relied on, informs us that they have plenty of provisions for two months, plenty of samunition, and plenty of discomforts. Our shell set the citaded on fire, the first afternoon we opened. It burned flercely for seven hours, that it shought it a fire raft bethind the fort, that it shought it a fire raft bethind the fort, that it shought it a fire raft bethind the fort, that it shought it a fire raft bethind the fort, that it shought it a fire raft bethind the fort, that it shough the first. The Harriet Lane lost but one man killed, and one, I feer, mortally wounded. The Winona loss three killed and three wounded, and the itsees, with fourties shot through her, had but few men hurt.

These forts can hold out still for so ne time, and I would suggest that the Mositor and Mystic, if they can be spared, be sent here without a moment's delay, to settle the question.

The mortar flest have been very much expeed and under a heavy fire for six days, and the first the presing down through her magazine and then through ber bottom. The fistlike lost but one man killed and six wounded. The bearing of the officers and men was worthy of the highest praise. They never once flagged during a period of six days, never hat an accident to one of the vowels by firing, and when shell and shot were dying thick above them, showed not the least desire to have the vessels moved to a place of safety. The incidents of the bombardment will be mentioned in my detailed report.

I merely write this burried letter to apprice the Department of the state of affairs, and shall send it off at once via Havana.

The sight of this night attack was awfully grand. The river was lit up with rafte filled with plac knots, and the ships above fared as well as we did, though amid and comparatively harmless.

I am in hopes that the ships above fared as well as we did, though amid such a terrific fire. It was satisfying to see that not a ship wavered, but stood steady on her course; and I am in hopes (and I see no reason to doubt)

President Lincoln at Old Point

Baltimone, May 8 .- Secretary of War: Th llowing is taken from the special correspond ce of the American, dated Yorktown, May 7

At 12 o'clock to-d.y, as I close my letter, the latest intelligence from the field of battle is, that Gen. McClician has come up with the meany about eight miles beyond Williamebra, and, after a pretty severe skirmish with his rear, has again put him to flight across the Chickahominy.

Nothing as to results is yet accertain d.

There is no doubt but that the whole army o Generals Lee, Johnson, and Magruder are in a state of utter demornitzation and under rapid pursuit by General McClellan, are flying with pursuit by General McClellan, are flying with great precipitation, without an intention of making a stand anywhere; and unless they reach Richmond by boats, by way of Jamn's river, will certainty be intercepted or captures by the Union forces landed and landing a West Point.

by the Union forces landed and landing at West Point.

Not less than fifty steamers are engaged in transporting the balance of the army (Union) to West Point.

A large number of prisoners are arriving at West Point, and others are being constantly brought is.

On Monday, the enemy took about eighty of our men prisoners, and captured one of the Pennsylvania batteries, having first killed all the borses, and they, having but a small rapport of infantry, were overwhelmed by a support of forces and compelled to abandon their suns. But before the close of the day, this battery, with one of the enemy's, was recaptured by General McClellan, and the prisoners they had were found in Williamshurg next day, engaged to attending on the wounded of the enemy they had left behind. Their retreat was accompanied by too much confusion and haste to be troubled with prisoners.

I have just learned that the enemy have de-troyed all the bridges across the Chickah mi sy, and that Gen. McCletlan is resting his arm on this side.

Six: I enclose another interseting syport from Lieutemant Commanding Rhied, of the Cremeder, giving the particulars of an expedition, on the 22th ultimo, with the Hale, to capture a battery on Grumball's pissatation, sear the innetion of the Dawho, Pow Pow, and South Edisto rivers. The enemy opened on the Hale reached the bar with the Coward on the 7th ult, and Edisto rivers. The enemy opened on the Hale when within 1,800 yards, and continued their face as she winded her way to energy them at close quarters. But when the Hale reached the last bend, and was making a straight course for the battery, the rebels fied is baste. Lieuting the country it.

The work was about 350 yards from the river bank, and mounted two fine long 24 pounders, on excellent field carriages, one of them being loaded and primed.

Owing to the marsby character of the ground between the battery and the river, the guns could not be removed; but Lieut, Gillis discharged the one loaded against the other, knocked off the cascabel, and took a large place out of the breech. Both were then spiked with rat-tail flies, and a large fire was made under them of the carriages, immber, &c. The ammunition left was brought away.
